THE GEORGE GUND FOUNDATION
ANNUAL 2006 REPORT
The George Gund Foundation was established in 1952 as a private, nonprofit institution with the sole purpose of contributing to human well-being and the progress of society. Over the years, program objectives and emphases have been modified to meet the changing opportunities and problems of our society, but the Foundation’s basic goal of advancing human welfare remains constant.
It is a fitting year for a focus on teachers as the Ohio Grantmakers Forum, a broad statewide group of funders chaired by David Abbott, the current executive director of this Foundation, presented a report in December of 2006, “Education for Ohio’s Future,” assessing the current status of schools in Ohio and presenting a plan for future developments. The report reinforces the importance of a number of issues that have been long-standing concerns of the Foundation, including scholarships, preschool education and teacher and principal training. It highlights a number of areas that have special significance in the current environment in which education is being increasingly considered in a global context, including the continuing achievement gap between white and minority students, the need for accountability at all levels and the need for more competitive public education to ready students for postgraduate education and the work world.

As a Foundation, we will continue to address many aspects of these education issues and hope that, working with the current administrations in Columbus and in Cleveland, we can be part of positive change. Three areas of our particular concern are flexible schools, excellent teachers and meeting the needs of the whole student. We recently made a $150,000 grant to help create excellent new CMSD schools that will offer students with a range of needs and abilities educational choices and the content they need, as well as environments conducive to good education. This follows grants we have made to break down schools into a series of smaller schools to increase flexibility and meet the needs of individual learners. Our second important goal is to produce excellent teachers as there is evidence that high quality teachers who believe students can learn are able to raise students to higher levels of achievement. We will be working to establish a model for developing good teachers who know content and who learn from teaching placements what good teaching is while they are developing their abilities to do it. And finally, we will continue to work to meet the needs of the whole student—not just academic learning, but health and other needs as well.

In 2006, the Foundation took another step in its continuing mission of increased accountability by commissioning a Grantee Perception Report from the Center for Effective Philanthropy. This process, which we have been through before, led to a thorough review of the way we operate and reforms in the way we go about fulfilling our mission. A summary of the report’s findings is on our website, at www.gundfoundation.org.

At the end of this year George Gund IV became a Trustee-candidate. We welcome him to the Board of the Foundation.
executive DIRECTOR’S letter

It seems that each day brings more news—news that is sobering, even frightening—about the negative impact of human behavior on our planet’s climate. Few but the willfully ignorant or those blinded by narrow, short-term interests continue to seriously doubt or challenge the threat of climate change. The scientific community has concluded overwhelmingly that climate change is real and that the threat is severe, even though there continues to be debate about the specific ways in which the impact will be felt. Yet, even as the precise dimensions of human-induced climate change unfold, it is clear that the actual outcome depends on the responses of individuals, organizations and governments. We can, and must, influence our collective destiny.

While the focus of The George Gund Foundation has been primarily regional, global climate change has long been a concern for us as part of our environmental grantmaking. With the release of our revised funding guidelines in this annual report, we are expanding that concern beyond the confines of our environmental program area.

We will require all organizations seeking grants from the Foundation, beginning with proposals submitted for our September 15, 2007, deadline, to include statements about what they are doing or considering doing to reduce their impact on the accumulation of greenhouse gases. For many grantees, this will be a new consideration, and we hope to prompt them to think about this urgent issue and take action. Assistance will be provided by our staff and on our website to direct them to helpful resources that will educate them about climate change and provide guidance on the many steps any organization can take to become more environmentally sustainable. For some of our grantees, climate change has been an issue of focus for a long time, and from them we hope to hear about best practices that we can communicate more widely. Our Foundation also is assessing its own “carbon footprint,” a measure of the greenhouse gases our work generates, to help us make changes in our operations and to serve as an example to grantees.

In addition, the Foundation now requires that organizations seeking capital support for new or rehabilitated buildings pursue U.S. Green Building Council certification for their projects. We join with the Cleveland Foundation in requiring this, and we hope that other funders will consider doing the same. Over the past several years, the health, environmental and economic benefits of green buildings have propelled this design and construction philosophy from obscurity to the mainstream. The urgency of responding to climate change demands that we establish this as mandatory practice, at least for projects seeking our financial support.

Finally, it is important to note that these changes, although emanating from the Foundation’s long-standing environmental concerns, apply across all program areas. This is a testament both to the importance of responding to climate change and to the increasingly interdisciplinary nature of our work. Organizing our staff by program areas permits us to develop expertise and better focus on topics of particular interest, but we realize that life itself is not so easily categorized and confined. In our internal deliberations, we more and more rely on multiple perspectives both from inside and outside of the Foundation to identify issues, devise strategies and make decisions. It is likewise evident that the creation of greenhouse gases and their impact on our planet pervades human activity. So too must our response. All of us have an obligation and a role to play.

Executive Director
Mark Steinmetz offers an intimate photographic glimpse into the day-to-day lives of teachers at two Cleveland Municipal School District buildings—John Marshall High School and Miles Park Elementary School—and their ever-shifting roles as tutors, mentors, coaches, counselors, confidants and disciplinarians. Improving the quality of education for Cleveland’s children has been a long-standing priority for the Foundation, and we celebrate the critical role teachers play in ensuring success for our next generation. Steinmetz, an instructor himself at universities such as Harvard and Emory, brings a special sensitivity to capturing the important work that teachers do. He is the recipient of many awards, including a John Simon Guggenheim Fellowship. Steinmetz’s work is included in the collections of many major museums and has been featured in numerous publications and photography journals.

The Foundation maintained its commitment to ensuring the vitality of Cleveland’s arts community with grants to organizations, both large and small, that reached audiences in the city’s neighborhoods and schools as well as in traditional performance and exhibition venues. A major grant to the Cleveland Institute of Art for its new University Circle campus reflected our long-standing relationship with that important institution. We continued support for the Community Partnership for Arts and Culture, which in 2006 realized its goal of securing local public funding for the arts. Arts grantmaking totaled $5,586,700.

Economic Development & Community Revitalization

The Foundation increased its support for the Fund for Our Economic Future, a collaborative philanthropic effort to develop a common, focused agenda for economic growth and development in Northeast Ohio. We also continued our core commitment to Cleveland’s neighborhoods with renewed funding of Neighborhood Progress, Inc., the local intermediary supporting efforts of community development corporations in the city. A leadership grant to the Neighborhood Funders Group will bring grantmakers from across the country to Cleveland in 2007 for the organization’s annual conference. Economic development and community revitalization grantmaking totaled $8,779,170.

The Foundation maintained its commitment to fund research on the causes, nature and prevention of inherited retinal degenerative diseases. We also continued support for a wide range of organizations working to strengthen the nonprofit and philanthropic fields. Special commitments grantmaking totaled $2,681,490.
The Foundation’s guidelines reflect our long-standing interests in the arts, economic development and community revitalization, education, environment and human services because these areas embrace most of the major issues that any community must address. While we continue to organize much of our work within these program areas, there is increasing awareness that many issues and, therefore, many grant proposals do not fit neatly into one program category. Indeed, the work of a growing number of nonprofit organizations brings together aspects of several of our core interests, and, as a result, we are becoming ever more interdisciplinary in our approach.

This is particularly evident with initiatives that aim to make Cleveland, and urban areas generally, more globally competitive, livable, sustainable and just. It is in this domain that the greatest need and maximum opportunity converge with the Foundation’s primary interests, expertise and ongoing stewardship. We especially seek to support innovative ideas being pursued by creative and entrepreneurial organizations.

Our primarily urban focus motivates us to devote attention and resources to the illumination of policies that shape the issues we care about. National, state and local policymaking affects all of the Foundation’s work and the work of the organizations we fund. Consequently, we feel a special obligation to support the nonpartisan voice of nonprofit advocacy in policy deliberations that directly relate to our program interests.

Global climate change is an urgent issue that cuts across all of the Foundation’s program areas. Every organization and individual can help to address this problem. The Foundation takes seriously our own responsibility, and we want to hear from grant applicants what they are doing or considering to reduce or to eliminate their organizational impact on climate change. Our website includes links to helpful resources, and Foundation staff will assist grant seekers—both new and those of long standing—in all of our program areas with questions they may have.

Human Services

Heightened focus on developing a more globally competitive city and region demands recognition that people are at the heart of this effort and that all segments of society can make constructive contributions. To maximize those contributions, direct attention must be paid to the needs of those most at risk of being left out of social and economic transformation. Building human capital begins at birth, and the Foundation pays special attention to the needs of Greater Cleveland’s disadvantaged children through grants to support early childhood care and education, abuse prevention and improved foster care and adoption systems. In addition, the Foundation provides some support for the local “safety net” of food, clothing, shelter and access to health care. A closely related set of interests is reflected in the Foundation’s desire to help vulnerable populations achieve access to health insurance, the legal system, community support following release from prison and safe and affordable reproductive health services.

Arts

The Foundation values and supports the role the arts play in making Cleveland and its region a more desirable place to live, fostering the growth of a creative workforce, catalyzing development in our neighborhoods and serving as a bridge between various segments of the community. The Foundation encourages a lively, diverse arts community in Greater Cleveland by funding local projects that emphasize artistic quality, innovative programming, reaching new audiences and organizational development. We also try to balance support for Cleveland’s long-standing institutions with funding for newer organizations that promise to reach different audiences and cultures and to expand the city’s artistic offerings. Arts education is a priority, with a focus on curriculum-related partnerships between arts organizations and the Cleveland Municipal School District.
EDUCATION

Education is fundamental to success, and if Cleveland is to produce, attract and retain talent and be the thriving center of a robust regional economy, expectations about education must rise exponentially. Consequently, our Foundation’s focus is on the transformation of public education in Cleveland in order to equip children from early childhood onward with the skills they ultimately will need to meet the demands of college, the 21st century workplace and international standards. Our primary area of interest is the creation and support of new, innovative, excellent schools in Cleveland. Related to that strategy is the recognition that high quality teachers supported by excellent principals make an enormous difference in student success. Therefore, we seek to support efforts to guarantee quality teachers and principals in every classroom and school. We maintain a desire to support disadvantaged students through key transitions, especially to higher education. We also have an interest in the efforts of public and private universities in Greater Cleveland to forge innovative ventures that enhance the region.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT & COMMUNITY REVITALIZATION

Sustaining uniquely urban assets such as vibrant neighborhoods and a thriving downtown is a key part of a successful regional strategy to promote economic growth. The Foundation devotes considerable attention to these dynamics, in particular by supporting collaborative efforts that leverage resources. As a result, the highest priority is given to initiatives that bolster the impact of Foundation-supported intermediary organizations working to improve the competitiveness of Cleveland’s neighborhoods and its metropolitan region. Examples of such initiatives include quality urban planning and design, improvements to urban parks and other public spaces, promotion of equal opportunity and diversity in housing and the workplace and proposals to redevelop Cleveland’s downtown, neighborhoods and first-ring suburbs.

ENVIRONMENT

Human well-being is inextricably linked to the quality of the environment, and urban areas bring this fact into sharp focus as historic disregard for the environment and modern development pressures create great challenges. The Foundation responds to these challenges by making grants to organizations that address environmental issues in Northeast Ohio. In addition, we support efforts to restore and preserve the Lake Erie ecosystem. Within the broad range of environmental issues, the Foundation focuses on promoting alternatives to urban sprawl, decreasing energy consumption and waste, conserving ecosystems and biodiversity, reducing environmental health hazards, increasing public awareness of environmental issues and building the skills of nonprofit environmental leaders.

The Foundation normally does not consider grants for endowments. Capital requests must meet the Foundation’s program goals and also adhere to “green building” standards of environmental sustainability. Details on these requirements are available from the Foundation. Grants are not made for debt reduction or to fund benefit events.

The Foundation does not make grants to individuals, nor does it administer programs it supports. Grants are limited to organizations located in the United States.

The Foundation makes grants only to organizations that meet Internal Revenue Code requirements as nonprofit, tax-exempt organizations and to qualified government units and agencies. Grant funds may not be used to participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of or in opposition to any candidate for public office.
Proposals are considered by the Foundation’s Trustees in March, June, September and December. Deadlines for submitting proposals for consideration at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Trustees are December 15, March 15, June 15 and September 15. Proposals are due the next business day if a deadline falls on a weekend.

Either of two proposal formats may be used—the Ohio Common Grant Form or a proposal containing the elements listed below. Faxed or electronic proposals are not accepted. Please do not submit proposals in notebooks, binders or plastic folders.

The Ohio Common Grant Form is available at www.gundfoundation.org, or on the website of Ohio Grantmakers Forum, at www.ohiograntmakers.org.

Each proposal should include a one-page cover letter describing the project and the amount of funds being requested. The proposals should also include:

Organizational Background

Project Description
Justification of need, specific goals and objectives, activities planned to meet goals and objectives, project time line, qualifications of key personnel, methods of evaluation.

Project Budget
Anticipated expenses, including details about how Foundation funds would be used, and anticipated income, including information about other sources approached for funding.

Organizational Budget

Supporting Documents

Climate Change Statement (beginning with proposals submitted September 15, 2007)
Brief explanation of what your organization is doing or considering to reduce or to eliminate its impact on climate change. The Foundation’s website includes resources to assist grantees with this task. This statement also should be included with the Ohio Common Grant Form, if that format is used.

All grant applications and requests for information should be addressed to: The George Gund Foundation, 1845 Guildhall Building, 45 Prospect Avenue West, Cleveland, Ohio 44115 (telephone 216.241.3114).

All proposals are screened and evaluated by the staff before presentation at Trustee Meetings. Receipt of proposals will be acknowledged by mail. Grant seekers may obtain information about other foundation and corporate funding sources at the Foundation Center library in Cleveland, 1422 Euclid Avenue, or by calling 800.424.9836 for the locations of other Foundation Center offices.

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2006 and 2005

NOTE 1 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of operations The George Gund Foundation ("the Foundation") is a private foundation which makes grants to educational, community service and philanthropic organizations, basically in Greater Cleveland.

Basis of accounting The Foundation's financial statements are presented on the accrual basis of accounting. Accordingly, revenues are recorded when earned, and expenses are recognized when incurred. The Foundation has only unrestricted net assets.

Use of estimates The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents Cash and cash equivalents consist of highly-liquid investments with maturity dates of three months or less which are readily convertible into cash.

Investments Marketable and U.S. securities are reported at their market value. Securities traded on a national securities exchange are valued at the last reported trading price on the last business day of the year. Realized gains or losses are determined by comparison of asset cost to net proceeds received. Unrealized gains or losses are determined by comparison of asset cost to market values at the end of the year.
Presenting the fair value of program-related investments is impractical since the purpose of these investments is to provide low interest loans to nonprofit organizations to assist them in their specific projects.

The Foundation invests in certain alternative investments which include investments in limited partnerships. Market values represent the Foundation’s pro rata interest in the net assets of each limited partnership as of December 31, 2006 and 2005, as provided by the fund managers. Market values as of December 31, 2006 and 2005 are not based on audited financial information supplied by the general partner or manager of the funds. Audited information is only available annually based on the partnerships’ or funds’ year end. Management reviews monthly valuations provided by the general partner or manager of the funds and assesses the reasonableness of the fair values provided at the interim dates and included in the financial statements. As of December 31, 2006 and 2005, the Foundation had total unfunded capital commitments to alternative investments of $6,053,946 and $8,951,093, respectively. Because of the inherent uncertainty of the valuation of alternative investments, the market values reflected in the accompanying financial statements may differ significantly from realizable values.

Furniture, equipment and leasehold improvements

Furniture, equipment and leasehold improvements are stated at cost. Amortization and depreciation is recorded using both straight-line and accelerated methods over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Depreciation expense amounted to $51,498 and $55,171 for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005, respectively.

NOTE 2 INVESTMENTS

Cost and market value of investments held at December 31, 2006 and 2005 were as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>2006</th>
<th>2005</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Market Value</td>
<td>Cost</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fixed income securities</td>
<td>$ 43,065,200</td>
<td>$ 44,192,233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Common stocks and alternative investments</td>
<td>$ 480,016,710</td>
<td>$ 249,608,180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>$ 523,081,910</td>
<td>$ 293,800,413</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Market values of investments are based on December 31, 2006 and 2005 published quotations, except that estimates are used when quotations are not available. Fixed income securities consist of U.S. government securities, U.S. government guaranteed securities and corporate securities. Common stocks and alternative investments consist principally of U.S. and international equity securities, investments in equity mutual funds, program-related investments and investments in limited partnerships.

Published market quotations do not necessarily represent realizable values, particularly where sizable holdings of a company’s stock exist, as in the case of the Foundation’s holding of the Kellogg Company common stock.

NOTE 3 EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLAN

The Foundation has an employee’s tax-sheltered annuity plan for all eligible employees. Such a plan is intended to comply with the requirements of Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). Employer contributions are required at 9% of the participants’ compensation up to the Social Security wage base for the year and 14.7% of the participant’s compensation in excess of this wage base, with a limit of $220,000 of compensation for the year ended December 31, 2006 and $210,000 for the year ended December 31, 2005. Employer contributions to the plan for the years ended December 31, 2006 and 2005 amounted to $107,661 and $99,175, respectively. Participants are also permitted to make salary reduction contributions to the plan.
NOTE 4 CREDIT CONCENTRATION

Aside from its holdings in the Kellogg Company, the Foundation’s portfolio of investments is highly diversified; however, at December 31, 2006 and 2005, 27% of the total market value of securities and 66% and 64%, respectively, of dividend income in each year are attributable to ownership of Kellogg Company stock. The Foundation has a concentration of risk in its cash position as of December 31, 2006 in that the Foundation has approximately $6,800,000 in one checking account that is insured by the F.D.I.C. up to a limit of $100,000.

NOTE 5 EXCISE TAXES

The Foundation is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the IRC, but is subject to a 2% (1% if certain criteria are met) federal excise tax on net investment income, including net realized gains, as defined by the IRC.

Deferred federal excise taxes are provided on the unrealized appreciation or depreciation of investments and interest and dividend income and certain expenses being reported for financial statement purposes in different periods than for tax purposes.

Current and deferred excise taxes were provided at 2% for 2006 and 2005. The current and deferred portions of the excise tax provisions were $665,757 and $945,287, respectively, netting to $1,611,044 in 2006. The current and deferred portions of the excise tax provisions were $683,916 and $(373,183), respectively, netting to $310,733 in 2005.

NOTE 6 NET ASSETS

Net assets include the accounts of two board-designated funds (principal and income) both of which consist entirely of unrestricted net assets. The principal fund consists of investments in securities and receives the realized and unrealized gains or losses on those assets.

The income fund receives interest and dividends on the principal fund investments which are used for grants and administrative expenses.

At December 31, the statements of financial position included the following income fund accounts:

Independent Auditors’ Report

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, THE GEORGE GUND FOUNDATION

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of The George Gund Foundation as of December 31, 2006 and 2005, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Foundation’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The George Gund Foundation at December 31, 2006 and 2005, and the results of its activities and its cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

George Gund was born in La Crosse, Wisconsin, and his family settled in Cleveland in 1897. Following graduation from Harvard College (1909) and graduate study at Harvard Business School, his early career included banking and real estate in Seattle, serving in Army intelligence during World War I, developing the Kaffee-Hag Corporation in Cleveland, attending Animal Husbandry School at Iowa State University and ranching in Nevada.

In 1936, Mr. Gund married Jessica Roesler and settled down in Cleveland to raise a family. His interest in banking culminated in his becoming President of The Cleveland Trust Company in 1941. At his death in 1966, he was Chairman of the Board.

In 1937, Mr. Gund began a formal program of charitable giving, and his philanthropic concern extended throughout his life. He carefully selected those charities to which he committed his funds. If the commitment was considerable over a long period of time, he characteristically devoted much of his time and energy to the institution.

Strong relationships developed with the educational institutions that shaped Mr. Gund’s early life. He contributed time and money to University School (Cleveland), where he was a trustee, and to Iowa State University, where he established a scholarship program for students of animal husbandry. He served on the Board of Overseers of Harvard College from 1954 to 1960 and was closely involved at Harvard with the School of Public Health and the Business School from 1954 to 1966. Another interest in higher education was Kenyon College, where he served as a trustee for many years.

Although Mr. Gund had little personal experience in the arts, his devotion to them was great. Perhaps the single best example was his long association with the Cleveland Institute of Art. In 1942, he became President of the Institute and, under his leadership, saw it develop into a lively and prestigious institution.

The George Gund Foundation was created in 1952 because Mr. Gund believed the private foundation concept provided the most positive, farsighted vehicle for intelligent underwriting of creative solutions to social ills in a manner which would not be limited to his own lifetime. He favored the corporate foundation structure directed by an experienced, sensitive board of trustees entrusted not only with disbursement of funds, but an objective, practical review of proposals. He valued the degree of freedom a private foundation can exercise in seeking and fostering innovative ideas and in implementing demonstration projects.

Today, Mr. Gund’s vision is carried forth through the continued involvement of the Gund family in the Foundation’s work. Since its inception, the Foundation has made grants totaling more than $483 million toward the advancement of human welfare.
